Re: [Subject of the letter]

Dear [Name],

Thank you for your time on Tuesday. As discussed, this letter confirms the scope, timings and next steps for the project, so that both teams have a single reference point.

We will supply, install and commission the system on site, followed by two days of operator training. Our support contract starts on the day of handover and runs for twelve months, with a named engineer available in your time zone.

If anything here does not match your understanding, please reply to this letter or call the number above and we will update it straight away.

Kind regards,

[Your name]
